Biographies of Convention Participants

Julia Aubrey (Collegiate Opera Scenes Competition), is Director of the Opera Theatre and head of the vocal area at the University of Mississippi. She earned BM and MM degrees in vocal performance, and a MA in theatre from the University of Missouri at Columbia. Her opera ensemble has won numerous awards from NOA, including first place in the NOA Opera Production Competition and third place in the NOA Collegiate Opera Scenes Competition. She has served as the Opera Stage Director for the Fairbanks Summer Arts Festival in Alaska, and staged operas for the Quad City Mozart Festival and productions at the University of Missouri-Columbia. She is presently President Elect of the National Opera Association.

Based in Louisville, Kentucky, Jeremy Beck's (Composer Finalist) most recent opera, Review, was previously included in the 2009 Opera America and Houston Grand Opera’s New Works Sampler. His opera The Biddle Boys and Mrs. Soffel was named by the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette as one of the Top Ten Cultural Events in Pittsburgh for the year 2001. A graduate of Yale, Duke and Mannes, Beck is also a licensed attorney, practicing entertainment and intellectual property law.

Paul-Andre Bempechat (Lyrica Society Sessions) is a graduate of the Juilliard School, the Sorbonne, and Boston University, and is artist-scholar with the Institut Culturel de Bretagne. His new research foci will yield studies on nationalism via Impressionism, and an exploration of Jewish-Christian relations in Hamburg and their impact on the Mendelssohn family. Bempechat also serves as president of the Lyrica Society and is concurrently preparing compact discs to include the complete piano works of Cras and major works of Schubert, Schumann, and Brahms.

Susan Boardman (H.O.W. Session), Associate Professor Emerita of Music at the Pennsylvania State University in University Park, Pennsylvania, taught voice and directed the Penn State Opera Theatre for the past fifteen years. She was also on the faculty of the University of Miami in Florida. Dr. Boardman has appeared in solo recital and with opera companies in Europe and Australia as well as the United States, and as a singer of new music, premiered a number of vocal works. Dr. Boardman earned her BM and MM degrees from the University of Wisconsin-Madison, and a DMA in Vocal Performance from the College-Conservatory of Music at the University of Cincinnati, Ohio. Dr. Boardman sat on the Board of the National Opera Association, and was the former editor of the NOA newsletter.

G. William Bugg, (Speed dating meets Opera Presentation) Professor of Voice and Director of the Samford University Opera Program for 33 years, has founded and served as president and director of Alabama Operaworks, a small regional opera company dedicated to presenting new operatic works. He has garnered a significant reputation as a solo vocal performer, having concretized extensively throughout the South and appearing with the New York Grand Opera, the Atlanta Civic Opera, the Kentucky Opera association, Opera Birmingham, Southern Regional Opera, Shreveport Civic Opera, and the Chattanooga Opera. He received his DMA from the University of Memphis, and his Masters Degree from the Southern Baptist Theological School of Music.

After studying Modern and Mediaeval Languages at the University of Cambridge, Laura Canning (The Opera Company and Opera Studio Audition) worked in London for the operatic division of Athole Still International Management and later the Harold Holt Artist Management. She was employed in the Artistic Administration department of the Glyndebourne Festival, and was Artistic Administrator of the Welsh National Opera. She became studio director for the Houston Grand Opera and serves on the senior management team for the company. She has served as adjudicator for the Metropolitan Opera National Council Auditions and for the Richard Tucker Foundation.

Jason Charnesky, (Librettist, St. Thomas the Carpenter), is an instructor of English composition and rhetoric at Penn State. Charnesky has written the lyrics and librettos for many works by composer Bruce Trinkley, including a trilogy of one-act comic operas: Eve's Odds, Golden Apple and Cleo, all of which won awards in the NOA Chamber opera competition. A full length opera, York: The Voice of Freedom was the centerpiece of a multi-disciplinary international conference at Penn State focusing on the history and the consequences of the Lewis and Clark expedition. Santa Rosalia, a cantata based on a painting by Fernando Botero was performed in Bogotá, Colombia in 2007.

W. Dwight Coleman (H.O.W Session) Director of the School of Music at Georgia State University in Atlanta, is General/Stage director of the nationally recognized Harrower Summer Opera Workshop and resident stage director of the La Musica Lirica Summer Music Festival in Italy. Previously, he was Coordinator of Voice and Director of Opera at Georgia State University, and Director of Opera at the University of Mississippi. He is a former Vice President of the National Opera Association and President of the Georgia Chapter of the National Association of Teachers of Singing. He has degrees from the University of North Carolina at Greensboro and Northwestern University, with post-graduate studies in Italy and Austria.

Born in England, educated in Scotland and Germany, Paul Crabtree (Poster Session) writes and stages site-specific operatic works that establish a new compositional and performance model, decentralizing the concert experience away from monopolized discrete venues and attracting a broader public to a living art form that reuses public space in line with the goals of urban revitalization. Galilea, a monodrama for soprano, horn and strings about the discovery of Uranus in 1781, will be performed at the newly reopened planetarium in the Boston Museum of Science in summer 2011.

Richard Crittenden (Importance and Power of Gestures, H.O.W.) is head of the Crittenden Opera which has presented workshops and classes for many years in Washington DC, Boston and New York. He taught at Curtis Institute of Music (head of Master's Opera Program), Yale University School of Music, New York University, and Mannes School of Music (NYC). He is well known for his workshops, master classes and lectures presented over most of the country for many years. A protégé of Boris Goldovsky, he is on the Board of Trustees of the Goldovsky Foundation. He has written a column on stage directing for the National Opera Association Journal for several years and is the author of The Career Track: How to Plan for a Professional Operatic Career.

Gilda Cruz-Romo (Competition Judge) has enjoyed an international career, which took off with her debut at the New York City Opera in 1969 as Margherita in Mefistofele, opposite Norman Treigle. The following year, on December 18, 1970, she made her debut at the Metropolitan Opera in New York as Cio-Cio-San in Madama Butterfly, and remained at the Met until 1984. She has appeared at most of the major opera houses in the United States, such as Chicago, Houston, Dallas, San Francisco, New Orleans, Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore. She also appeared in Europe, making her debut at the Royal Opera House in London, and La Scala in Milan, both as Aida. She continued to score triumphs at many houses such as the Verona Arena, the Rome Opera, Venice, the Maggio Musicale Fiorentino in Florence, Vienna State Opera, the Bolshoi in Moscow, the Liceo in Barcelona, the Teatro Nacional Sao Carlos in Lisbon, and the Palais Garnier in Paris.

Dr. Linda Di Fiore, (Artist Division Preliminary Judges for Vocal Competition) Mezzo-Soprano and Regents Professor at the University of North Texas, has performed professionally for over thirty-five years as a soloist in opera, oratorio, recital, and musical theatre. Her career has included guest performances throughout the United States with such groups as the St. Paul Chamber Orchestra, Minnesota Opera, Bach Aria Festival in New York City, Orlando Opera, North Florida Arts Opera Series, Longview Opera, Joffrey Ballet and the Orchestra of New Spain. She has taught in summer programs in Rome, Venice, Casalmaggiore, Innsbruck, Graz (AIMS) and most recently in the Amalfi Coast Festival. She has been a Visiting Professor of Voice at the Eastman School of Music, and is a NATS Master Teacher. She has won the Distinguished Service Award to International Education as well as the President’s Council Teaching Award at UNT.

Ruth Dobson, (Sacred in Opera) Chair, Sacred in Opera, received the Governor’s Arts Award from the state of Oregon for her distinguished work in the field of opera and opera education. She joined the voice faculty at the University of Oregon after retiring as Professor of Music at Portland State University, where she taught voice, opera workshop, and song literature. Ms. Dobson was the director of the PSU Opera Theater program. where her productions of Le Nozze di Figaro and Don Giovanni were awarded first place in the opera production competition of the National Opera Association. She is Co-Founder of the Astoria Music Festival and Artistic Director of Portland SummerFest. She was Founder and Artistic Director of Bel Canto Northwest Vocal Institute.

Melissa Dunphy (Composer Finalist, The Gonzales Cantata) has received national acclaim from The Wall Street Journal, The Atlantic, Harper's Magazine, and MSNBC's Rachel Maddow. Her vocal music has been recognized in awards from ASCAP/Lotte Lehmann Foundation and the Simon Carrington Chamber Singers.
